Secondly, license fees depend on the applicable Customer Category licensee has chosen under the relevant usage license.

3. Unit of Count vs. Flat Fee

Thirdly, the specific fee to be paid depends either on the concrete usage (measurement via units of count) or shall be paid as a lumpsum amount. Discounts may be granted as stipulated in the relevant license agreement (Market Data Dissemination Agreement or Non-Display Agreement)

II. Non-Display Agreement

Licensees who are not interested in other usage types than the Non-Display Information Usage only need the Non-Display Agreement. With respect to the applicable fee model, the same logic applies as illustrated above with the deviation that only the usage type Non-Display Information Usage is of relevance.

III. Further information

The fee model is further explained in a Guidance Note which can be accessed via Deutsche Boerse's Market Data Website taking into consideration both the Market Dissemination Agreement as well as the Non-Display Agreement.
